STATE NEWS.

While the sheriff was at the fair two risoners escaped from the Parke county jail, esterday, and are still at large. A sudden reaction in favor of trade dollars at par has set in at Terre Fiat, and banks, stores, etc., advertise for them for 100 cents value.

Prof. J. H. Smart lectured in the interest of the teachers institute at the Methodist church in Greenfield, Wednesday evening. Subject: "School and home." Yesterday afternoon an eight-year-old son of James Barnett, of Greenfield, while play-ing with a horse, was kicked in the head and stomach with probably fatal effect. John Alvey, living south of Winchester, was kicked in the mouth by a vicious horse Wednesday. His jaw is broken and face mutilated in a horrible manner. His recovery

The republican convention for the seco congressional district met yesterday and nominated Dr. Wellman, of Dubois county, for congress, in opposition to Hon. T. R. Cobb, democrat. The greenbackers' convention at Madison yesterday afternoon, nominated George Gregg for congress, and R. Elliott for joint representative for Jefferson, Jennings and Scott counties. Less than fifty delegates The barn of Daniel Strader, at Stone Bluff, Fountain county, was burned Wednesday night, together with eight horses and its entire contents, consisting of about 400 bushels of corn, a large quantity of hay, agricultural implements, harness, etc. Loss, $3,000; inurance, $2,200. George Palmer, a married man of Rushville, attempted to commit suicide yesterday by swallowing a large dose of arsenic. The prompt administration of antidotes averted atal results, and it is now thought he will survive. He was intoxicated at the time. Domestic troubles caused the act. A farm-wagou containing Mr. Powers and family, while going down Parker's hill, Knightstown, became detached from the horses by the breast-chain breaking, and was thrown over a high embankment, breaking the arms of two of Powers' children, and seriously injuring Mrs. Powers. Joseph Nickerson and Mary Hill, each about twenty years of age, while crossing old lake, about two miles north of Columbia City, in a small canoe, were drowned. Miss Hill, losing her balance, fell out, Nickerson sprang in to save her, and both sauk beneath the waters. The bodies were brought to the surface at the same time. The grand opening reception will be given at the new Vincones university this evening. The building, which is just completed, is the finest in the state. It is in the Gothic style and designed by Stem of Indianapolis. The institution is the oldest in the west, having been endowed in 1807 by a land grant by congress, during Harrison's administration as territorial governor.

An explosion of hydrogen gas took place at the high school at Winchester, yesterday, injuring several persons near it. A young man by the name of lliff was 'struck by a piece of the bottle in the ball of the eye, inflicting a very serious injury. Another young man, a son of 'Squire Nathan Reynard, was the one meet injured by the explosion. He the one most injured by the explosion. He was struck in the abdomen by a large piece of glass, which cut a frightful gash.

A Terre Haute letter says the nationals are very active and sanguine of carrying the county. Colonel Robert Hudson, one of the leaders in this county, says that the struggle was for the offices, an admission in which frankness and truth were beauti-fully intermingled. Local divisions and friendships enter so largely into the race in this county in the old parties that the na-tionals, by united action, will stand a fair chance for part of the county ticket.

De La Matyr Nominated at Martinsville.

[Special dispatch to The Indianapolis News.]
MERTINSVILLE, August 30.—The democracy of the Seventh congressional district met here to-day, for the purpose of selecting a candidate for congress in this district, and also to nominate a candidate for joint sena-ator for the counties of Marion and Morgan. There was a full delegation from each county in the district. The meeting was called to order at 1:30 o'clock by Mr. John Messler, of Hendricks county, and Col. C. C. Matson, of Putnam county, selected Was as permanent chairman, who, on taking the chair, in [Washington special.]

Kearney's visits to the departments were evidently designed to magnify his own importance. The visit which was least acceptportance. The visit which was least acceptable to him was, perhaps, that at the Treasury department, where he paid his respects to Acting Secretary of the Treasury Hawley. The latter replied with earnestness to Kearney's general raid upon the bondholders, and showed his most conclusively two factsfirst, that the 4 per cent. bonds, at which Kearney rails, are being largely taken in sums of $50 and $100, and represent the savings of the industrious poor, who are thus transferring their little earnings from the savings banks, in which they have lost condence, to the government, which they trust, unless such demagogues as Kearney undermine their faith in it. Second. That out of the nearly $1,800,000,000 of United States securities outstanding, not more the nearly $1,800,000,000 of United States securities outstanding, not more than $200,000,000 are in Exrope, and the remaining $1,600,000,000 are the property of Americans. Kearney said he was for greenbacks. Hawley asked him what he meant by greenback—whether the greenback of war times, when gold was 285, was the dollar whose purchasing rower has was the dollar whose purchasing power he-wanted. To similar questions, Kearney, whose ignorance is even more dense than his speeches indicate, replied, in a shuffling, eva-sive way, saying, "We had better not talk about that." Kearney returned from his round of the departments, declaring it was a hard money cabinet.

Yellow Fever in Memphis.

Memphis, August 30.—The wet, cool weather which has prevailed since 2 p. m. yesterday has undoubtedly created many new cases of fever, but how many it is impossible to state, owing to the fact that but two physicians have reported to the board of health up to noon to-day. Some are indifferent to the importance of reporting, others are too busy attending sick calls, while one at least is known to be in open defiance of the board of health, has never reported a case, and claims that the protracted disease is not yellow fever. The death rate, however, will equal, if not exceed that of yesterday, when sevent eight interments were reported. Up to not undertakers the forty-six yellow fever inter-ments. Fathers Bokel and Meagher are dead. Two fathers and two brothers at the Franciscan monastery are down, also Rev. Dr. Thomas, pastor of the Free German Protestant church. Physicians report that the fever is prevailing to an alarming extent among the colored people, many of whom have had no medical attention for days and a large increase in the mortuary report may reasonably be expected. The Evening Herald suspended to-day. A special to the Ledger from Brownsville, Tenn.,

reports a case of yellow fever there, Sallie Sullivan, a refugee from Memphis.

In the civil circuit court yesterday, the case of Almira Thompson vs. James Thompson, a suit for divorce, was called for trial, and on default of the defendant a decree was issued to plaintiff. In her complaint she sets forth that she and defendant were married at Redwan, Ontario, in 1857, and have ried at Redwan, Ontario, in 1857, and have one child, a girl, aged 24 years; that for two years past defendant has abandoned his wife and child, and for five years has been an habitual drunkard. On this the decree was granted. Two or three weeks age, a man who said he was James Thompson came into the clerk's office, and exhibiting a subpoena in the above case, wanted to know what it meant. Captain Madden read the complaint to him, when he told a story to this effect: Two years ago he sold his farm in Canada for $1,400, giving his wife $1,150 of it, that she might bring their child to the Surgical institute, in this city, for treatment. The Buffalo and Woodchopper Safe.

Governor Williams, in a conversation with a News reporter this morning, expressed himself as somewhat aggrieved at an item in yesterday's issue. The governor is not thinskinned and seldom complains. In this case The News, under a misapprehension, did him injustice. It may be said for him that he never neglects official duties for politics and that when he does go away from the city the routine of his work continues during his absence, which is never prolonged. He said: absence, which is never prolonged. He said: "Young man I want it understood that when I go away that I don't carry the state seal in my coat tail pocket. That emblem, buffalo and all, will always be found safe in the custody of the secretary of state."

THE DAILY NEWS.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 30, 1878.

The Indianapolis News has the largest circulation of any daily paper in Indiana.

KEARNEY called at the White house at Washington a day or two ago and began in his usual browbeating style to impose hoodlumism upon the president, whereupon that mild mannered man at once carried the war into Africa, and gave Kearney a lecture on the real causes of the present ills of society in this country; showing him what had resulted from the natural extravagance engendered by the war, and how confidence being now restored and business reviving the poor man was having a better chance. Kearney was out-talked, and came away with a good sized flea in his ear.

A RAID is made on the illegal naturali. zation papers issued in New York in 1868. There were issued then almost sixty thousand of these illegal and fraudulent papers, all but about ten thousand of which have been surrendered or traced. United States Attorney Woodford has notified the holders of these that all such papers must be surrendered by September 21, or prosecution will follow. Most of these holders are workingmen and many of them foreigners unused to the methods of obtaining citizenship, and those among them who are honest are given opportunity to avoid punishment.

THE specious cry of the greenbackers that congress should regulate the currency "to meet the wants of trade," in practice would resolve itself into a regulation according to the supposed political good of the members. If they thought they could get more votes by issuing more currency they would order more to be issued, and if they thought they could get more votes by ordering contraction they would contract, and precious little attention would they pay to the wants of trade. What a monstrous proposition it is to make the currency of the country the foot-ball of politicians. Who would make investments under such a condition of things? Absolute misery would be the inevitable result of the national doctrine,

CHARLES H. MARSHALL, chief owner of the Black Ball line of packets, gave some interesting testimony before the Hewitt committee. The following part of it should, if pondered, show workingmen how debts are paid and wealth is created:

Mr. Hewitt—Does your capital pay at present? A. No; we run it for the benefit of the laborer. I will let my ships go for half of one per cent, profit. If we lay our ships up one per cent, profit. If we lay our ships up we lose more than we do to keep them afloat and running. We are like the man having hold of the tiger's tail—he will be killed it he holds on, and it's death to let go. The laborer has the benefit of a large capital on which he pays no interest whatever.

Those that listen to the specious cry of the demagogues who are preaching a crusade against capital might realize by an unprejudiced consideration of such testimony as Mr. Marshall's that the times are hard for honest capitalists as well as for wage-winners.

THE international monetary conference has agreed to disagree. Owing to the impossibility even of states having a double standard and of making any engagement relative to the unlimited coinage of silver, there is declared to be no ground for the establishment of an international ratio between the two metals. So the fathers of the daddies' dollar are driven to some other expedient of legitimizing their offspring. There is left them three alternatives. 1. By limiting the amount of silver to be issued. 2. By readjusting the relative weight of the two coins to their market rate, or 3, by embarking on the fiat sea and forcing 88 cents to pass for 100 cents, drive the country to a single silver standard. The first two of these would be a confession that the daddie dollar movement was in essence a fraud, and the last would be that it was what its opponents charged-a trick of speculators to make money and of debtors to avoid meeting their just obligations. The woes of the silver men begin.

THE New York Herald gives this cone'se description of that political iniquity, Tammany Hall:

It is perfect in machinery, rich in funds, and powerful in numbers. When it does not make nominations offensive to the people, it commands majorities for its candidates for public office ranging from 25,000 to 55,000. public office ranging from 25,000 to 50,000. It elected its mayor in 1872 by nearly 40,000 and in 1874 by more than 54,000 majority. Its nominations are made, not by the organization, but by its leader. His word is law—his decision irreversible. Mr. John Kelly, and not Mr. Anybody Else is that leader.

And the free American press of New York are begging this Irish-Amerto name the man he ican be pleased to allow will the city to have for its mayor. The New York Sun testifies that the Herald's definition is exact. It says further:

He may select every judge of our courts to be elected while he retains his present position. Mayors and judges will all be ob-sequious and subservient to him. Tweed and Sweeney, in their day, were consulted by judges as to what they wanted done, even in cases of murder. Very few indeed of our judges are wholly independent of such a power. The upshot of the whole matter is power. The upshot of the whole matter is that John Kelley is absolute despot of New

And the Sun protests against a "King of New York."

As to decency: The Journal has been patting itself on the back at the liberal generosity of the north toward the feverstricken south. This morning it makes broad its phylacteries and says:

"Although no politics appear in the case, we have no doubt, if the truth were known, that much the greater part of the money now so freely flowing into the south comes from republican hands, and from a class of citizens whom southerners have been accustomed to a buse without stir. It has been the tomed to abuse without stint. It has been the fashion in the south to stigmatize the northern people as cold, selfish, mercenary and stingy. Nothing could be further from the truth. A more generous people does not exist than those of the north."

God, I thank thee I am not as other men streete—Luke xyii: 4

Last Tuesday The News said: The New Orleans Times is of the opinion The New Orleans limes is of the opinion that the north by its aid to the fever-stricken south, "is building a monument of gratitude which will be luminous forever." If some of the stalwarts do not take that for a political text in 1880 it will be because the predetermined attempt to wave the bloody shirt will

The Journal begins to make political capital two years ahead of the News's prediction; reinforcing its contemptible construction of charity with the suggestion that perhaps there may be discerned on the part of an overruling Providence a development of a better understanding between the two sections in thus scourging the south, and affording the north an opportunity of contributing to alleviate the distress, (greater portion of the money coming from republican hands, supra).

Yellow Fever.

The suggestion that the president appoint a committee of physicians to investigate the yellow fever, aside from the objection that it is not particularly a wise thing for people who believe in the actuality of local self-government to run to the central government for relief on every occasion, is open to the further objection that there is thus far nothing developed in this disease that is not already

Our medical libraries are stored with a vast amount of literature upon yellow fever. Most carefully have physicians examined the minute changes in the progress of the disease. The microscope has noted each structure; elaborate reports of cases, and accurate descriptions of the varied forms and treatment have been put before us. From the writings of Da Cunha in 1723, to the latest observations in this country yellow fever is about the same disease. France, Germany, Spain, Portugal and Great Britain have had to deal largely with the disease, and their dealings were with well organized medical departments and by lavish expenditure of money. They show that about one in three attacked with the disease does not recover, and that the fatality of various epidemics, as of yellow fever is governed by conditions of temperature and direction of winds, as well as hygenic differences of different localities.

So long as the sun can breed maggots in a dead dog, (to'use Hamlet's thoughts,) so long will yellow fever breed in the world so far as 40° N. and 20° S. latitudes, along great water courses and by the sea,-because the condition of intense and continued heat, with abundant evaporations from large bodies of water, conjoined with abundance of decaying vegetable and animal matter, are there found to nourish the poison which causes the disease That is what is known, and just so much is known of typhoid, remittant or any other kind of fever, and knowing the cause does not put it in the power of man to prevent them, but he may take himself where those conditions do not exist, and defy the dis-

In the hundred and fifty years of accurate knowledge of this disease, no medicines or means of cure have been left untried. All drugs, all means of cooling, hot baths, cold baths, ice packs, wine baths, milk baths, milk injections into the veins, blood of lambs introduced into the arteries, have been used, and the mortality yet stands about one in three. The thousands of cures and specific remedies are only the outgrowth of catch-penny quackery. Cleanliness, pure water, pure air and a cool climate are the only surety against vellow fever. And if report be true the first of these conditions has been most grossly neglected by the cities which are now suffering.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Mr. Hewitt asked Col. Wright, chief of the Massachusetts labor bureau, if there was no way outside of taxation by which congress could relieve the condition of the working classes. "Yes," said the colonel, "by adjourning. The working man can often better afford to pay congress $25,000 not to sit than $5,000 to sit." People generally will corroborate Col. Wright's statement.

The tide is turning in Maine. Many who were at first inclined to new doctrines are returning to the support of honest money.

Gen. Butler admits that he received possibly a third of the $142,000 which it cost to get the prize money for Farragut's sailors, and said it cost him a year's time. A third of $142,000 is a little over $47,000. That seems to be a pretty fair remuneration for a year's work. Mrs. Mary A. Whereat the Springfield Union says: "It isn't the state that is responsible for the slow progress of the temperance cause. Last Wednesday a dozen Chinese hucksters discovered a big red-headed Irishman in the act of robbing one of their baskets. The Kearneyite had a high fence to climb before he could escape, and the Mongolians were re-inforced by a neighboring brick pile. The first brick they biffed him with knocked a yard and a half of high-pressure brogue out of the Celt, and it would have made the Chi-nese ambassador himself smile to behold the manner in which they dragged him around by his ears, for want of a queue, and general-ly turned the tables on their natural enemy. John doesn't often have a chance to """. John doesn't often have a chance to "get back," but when he does he takes it.—[San Francisco News-Letter.

Theodore Thomas is yet a young man in appearance, and is but 45 years of age. He was born in the kingdom of Hanover, and was born in the kingdom of Hanover, and came to this country when 10 years of age. While a lad he was a member of the orchestra of the Italian opera, and at fifteen was first violin in the band that played accompaniments for Jenny Lind. He conducted orchestras for German and Italian operas before he was 20 years of age, and it was one of Adalina Patti's conceits that she could not sing in opera unless Theodore Thomas conducted the performance. His later services are well known. In Dodworth hall, in 1855, with Mason, Matzka, and others, he gave delightful concerts of chamber music. His orchestra was formed in 1861, and since 1868. orchestra was formed in 1861, and since 1868 has had a more than national reputation.

Egyptien and Pompeien are two fashiona-ble dull shades of red. The fur flowers of 'the coming season are light, airy and charming.

Short and demi-trained dresses are equally ashionable for street wear. The leading styles in bonnets are gypsy, Quaker, and cottage shapes. The latest novelty in veils is black dotted net, lined with white illusion.

Old style India satin, called Pekin silk, heavy and lustreless, will be worn again. Pale blue and Jacqueminot red are favo-rite combinations of color for evening dress, Two, three and four kinds of material will be used in the fabrication of fall and winter Pleated basques and pleated waists polo-paises with deep yokes and wide belts are coming in vogue. The richest novelty in fans is of gold, wrought in a delicate open work, like the Chinese ivory fans. The most expensive have the owner's monogram in diamonds.

A novelty for gentlemen's underwear is a netted shirt of soft twisted cotton small cord, to be worn under the flannel, or in place of flannel in very warm weather. Long pointed corsages or simulated points on princess robes are very fashionable for full evening dress. The point is very long and broad, and rounded, not sharp. The novelty in dress materials which bids fair to be most popular is a wool stuff in-voiced coatings. It resembles the English cheviots, suitings and home-spun worn by gentlemen for business suits.

The new coatings for ladies' suits are loose woven, not twilled, and show the same mixtures that gentlemen's suitings do, with an almost imperceptible dash of Thiers red or mandarin yellow.

Old-fashioned garnet and claret color will be worn this winter.

Gay colored belts are worn with all costumes, but especially with black. Ladies who have a taste for embroidering work their own belts; while others wear the gaily woven ribbons in the oriential designs so much in vogue.

A Dolls' Wedding Party.

[San Francisco Call.] Quite a novel entertainment took place a the residence of Mr. J. S. Bacon, on Leavenworth street, near Clay, on Saturday after-noon last, which consisted of a dolls' wed-ding. Tiny invitations were sent out, which read as follows:

"The pleasure of your company, with your doll, is requested at the dolls' wedding, August 17th, from 2 till 7 p. m. 1327 Leavenworth street worth street."

These, with the dolls' cards, "Henry De Woll" and "Eleanor Gray." were inclosed to about sixty little friends of the parties.

The dolls were arranged in an arbor of owers under a marriage bell, with the dolls f each guest arranged about as the audie The marriage ceremony was performed by Father Abbe, a veritable doll priest, and the wedding march played on the piano by Miss Amy Cheney, a charming pianist of ten years. The tiny wedding cake was cut, and the dolls, in the hands of their owners, gave the usual congratulations, about forty young misses, with their dolls, being present.

After an afternoon of delightful inter-iews, the whole party sat down to the marriage feast, and bon-bons, caps, etc., crowned the whole. A more delighted crowd of little folks have not been assembled together in this city for a long time past.

A POLITICAL STATEMENT.

Views of Beverly Tucker on the Electoral Commission and the Potter Com-

The New York World prints the following interview with Congressman Beverly Tucker, of Virginia, with the editorial indorsement:

of Virginia, with the editorial indorsement:

"We have every reason to believe that the opinions which Mr. Beverly Tucker, of Virginia, delivered to a World reporter yesterday are those entertained by the great mass of democrats throughout the country.

"With reference to the Potter committee's investigation Mr. Tucker said he thought, in common with many Virginians, that it was an injudicious movement as a party measure. If meant as an initiatory proceeding to the dislodgement of Mr. Hayes, he believed it would prove futile. A review of its history dislodgement of Mr. Hayes, he believed it would prove futile. A review of its history would show that the electoral commission had made what many looked upon as a bad title a good one. It removed a cloud which rested upon the title, and when the commission ended its labors it was the duty of every gentleman in the land to accept the position of things. There was no alternative but to submit, and that submission prevented the anarchy which at one time threatened.

"There were points also in that commission

"There were points also in that commission and its work," said Mr. Tucker, "to which we fairly objected. When it refused to extend its domain of action behind the returns, we all thought it was a mistake, but it did refuse, and after having constricted the commission and leaving the question to them. it would have been had faith, if not dishonest, in us to refuse to abide by the result. Now we have been plunged into the question again by the Potter committee, so called. It was created either to disturb the title of Mr. Hayes or it either to disturb the title of Mr. Hayes or it was not. If it is to do so, it is unjust, unnecessary, and not in accordance with good faith between parties and sections. If it is not to disturb Mr. Hayes's title, then what is it for? We all know that there was no end of irregular work in the carpet-bag elections in many of the southern states. Those facts have been very well ventilated. The newspapers have left no stone unturned where there was a fraud to be unearthed. I wish to say that the southern people do not desire the there was a fraud to be unearthed. I wish to say that the southern people do not desire the dislodgement of Mr. Hayes.

"When the president was chosen in the manner I have stated we were prepared to endure what he was to carry out. We did not expect the patronage. He was a republican and he had his republican friends to serve. We had opposed him in the election, and naturally were not to enjoy the fruits of victory; but the republican president has done his duty in restoring state sovereignty and by releasing the states of South Carolinia and Louisiana from the interference of federal rule with the state affairs through the presence of United States troops. ence of rederal rule with the state affairs through the presence of United States troops. This was all a southern man could demand from a republican president. We needed a season of rest and quiet in which to work out our own affairs. "The Potter committee has done, I think "The Potter committee has done, I think an injury in opening the questions that gone into. It naturally serves to embitter the president into a retaliatory policy, and has served to cement in a measure the opposition to a natural government in the south—by that I mean not an imported government. Republicans claim, very naturally and logically that the investigation is an evidence of bad faith."

Strength of the Ancient Greeks.

The physical superiority of the ante-Alex-andrian Greeks to the hardiest and most ro-bust nations of modern times, is perhaps best illustrated by the military statistics of Xen-ophon. According to the author of the Ana-basis, the complete accourtements of a Spar-tan soldier in what we would call heavy marching order, weighed seventy-five pounds, exclusive of the camp, mining and bridge building tools and the rations issued in weekly installments, which increased the burden of the infantry soldier to ninety, ninety-five and even one hundred pounds. This load was often carried at the rate of four English miles an hour for twelve hours per diem, day after day, and only in the burning deserts of southern Syria the commander of the Grecian auxiliaries thought it prudent to the Grecian auxiliaries thought it prudent to shorten the usual length of a day's march one-fourth. The gymnastic tests applied by the syntanchus or recruiting officer of a picked corps, would appear even more preposterous to the uniformed exquisite of a modern crack regiment. Even tall, well shaped men of the soundest constitution could not pass the preliminary examination unless they were able to jump their own hight vertically and thrice their length horozontally, and two thirds of these distances in full armor; pitch a weight equal to one third their own a distance of twenty yards. and throw a javelin with such dexterity that they would not miss a mark the size of a man's head more than four out of ten times at a distance of fifty yards, besides other feats referring to their experience in the use of the bow and sword.

Black Mailers.

[New York Tribune.] [New York Tribune.]
Whenever any disreputable woman chooses to start a dirty story about herself and some conspicuous public man, she at once counts that practically one half the press of the country will act as her allies and efficient agents in promoting her blackmailing scheme. That is to say, she assumes that any newspaper which is in any way hastile to a prominent. which is in any way bostile to a prominent politician will jump at the chance to print a disreputable story about him, Knowing this she goes to the politician and threatens him with the publication. Nine times out of ten whether he is innocent or guilty, the threat is equally effective.

"Got 'em Bad"-In Maine, too.

[Bangor Whig and Courier.]-Another fearful crisis is upon the nation. All rebeldom—indeed, all the forces of those old political fiends, state's rights and seces-sion, incited by hate and revenge, and marshaled by the moloch of Andersonville and the Libby, Jefferson Davis—are laboring to "fire the proud southern blood," and precipitate anew the appalling slaughter, crime and mitery of another rebellion for the enslavement of the masses.

A Double Warning.

Mr. W. P, Fishback tells of a narrow escape from a shark bite experienced by his brother, George W. Fishback, Esq., of St. Louis, during their recent sojourn at Southampton, Long Island. They were bathing, and George Fishback threw himself on his back to rest, being an expert swimmer. W. P. left him floating thus and returned to the and George Fishback threw himself on his back to rest, being an expert swimmer. W. P. left him floating thus and returned to the shore. Suddenly he felt a bump under the shoulders, as by some one raising out of the water. He cried out, "Hello, 'there, what are you doing?" but on turning around saw no one. He resumed his floating, and again he felt the bumping, this time at his knee. Then it flashed across his mind what caused the bumping. It was a shark endeavoring to take a mouthful out of his plump person. The fact that only a small part of his body was under water was all that prevented the "man eater" from getting in a good mouthful. Mr. Fishback began climbing rapidly for sand and reached the shore whole and unharmed. But after that, bathing was enjoyed within easy distance of the shore. The sharks have been more numerous this year along the sound than ever before known. Six big fellows were caught one day at Southampton during Mr. Fishback's stay.

An Interested Candidate.

Yesterday afternoon a News reporter met a gentleman whose name adorns the national county ticket, and as in duty bound inquired how the canvass was progressing and what were his prospects. The candidate replied that he hadn't the faintest idea. They had put his name on the ticket without consulting him and he proposed to let these. that he hadn't the numbest idea. They had put his name on the ticket without consulting him and he proposed to let them run the campaign. "I don't propose," said he, "to ask a single individual to vote for me. I shan't shake hands with any one. I wouldn't have done so sixty days ago. I don't propose to attend a political meeting, and won't deposit a cent in the campaign fund." The reporter went his way musing over the chances of a ticket composed of such interested candidates as this one;

Most of the readers of The News know that the sycamore bears a larger leaf than most forest trees, but many may not know that the largest leaves are not found on the largest trees. On the contrary the young sapling of a year's growth is apt to be most profuse of big leaves, and occasionally they are found of a size that rivals the foliage of the tropics. Here they find Weedpatch hill, which, though it is not the highest point of land in the state, is the highest hill, standing 1,042 feet above the sea level. It is covered with vigorards and peach level. It is covered with vineyards and peach orchards, and the view from its summit is as orchards, and the view from its summit is as wild and picturesque as poet or painter could wish. There is no place in the state, and few outside of it, that can rival in beauty the panorama that is unrolled around these Brown county hills, of which there are four of Brown county hills, of which there are four of almost equal hight. From Dowell's hill, 998 feet high, a magnificent view is, obtained of the Jackson county knobs, and the hills to the west of Greensburg, while Blue river, a thin thread of silver, seems to sew together wooded hills and verdant valleys with most fantastic knots and loops. Weedpatch hill is five miles southeast of Nashville.

Archery and Bows

Every evening sees the many archery clubs busy on the lawns. This is a center shot at croquet, and, by the way, shooting with a bow and arrow must be "just splendid" for those who, think croquet "nice." Overlooking the suspicion that "nice." Overlooking the suspicion that archery has been revived "just for style," the healthfulness of the exercise can not be questioned. The bows ordinarily used by ladies in this country have a pull of about 30 pounds, though in England ladies shoot 60-pound bows. The heaviest pull used by gentlemen here is but 50 pounds, though a man ought to pull a 100-pound bow. All the bows come from England, where the best woods grow. They are made of lance wood, generally, and cost $4 or $5: arrows 75 cents each. The best bow wood is lemon; yew is also first class; and also snake root backed with hickory. with hickory.

It Makes a Difference Whose Ox is Gored.

Last night George Vancamp stole $27 off the cigar case at 'Chapin & Gore's saloon, where the combination pool deadfall is located. Immediately the whole police machinery of the city, which has thus far been unable or unwilling to make a single arrest for the innumerable violations of the law daily practiced in the saloon, was put to work to capture the thief. It was successful at about midnight, Vancamp being found in a house of ill-fame on the canal. Most of the money he had expended in the purchase of a suit of It Makes a Difference Whose Ox is Gored. of In-fame on the canus. Most of the money he had expended in the purchase of a suit of clothes. It is one of the anomalies in the municipal government of Indianapolis that infractions of law against saloons and saloon keepers are more severely punished than any other, and the guilty parties more vigorously pursued to capture and confinement.

City Teachers' Meeting.

The city teachers met this morning at the High school, nearly every teacher appointed for the ensuing year being present. Prof. Tarbell, the new superintendent of city schools, read an interesting paper, introducing the general features of teachers' work. The only changes in school books for the coming term will be made by the introduction of Ridpath's history of the United States and Guyot's new intermediate geography. There will be no general meeting of teachers to-morrow, the day to be chiefly taken up with drill in grade meeting work.

Expert Gunnery.

Dr. Alexander, the noted rifle shot, and John C. Dunn, the shot gun expert, will shoot a match for $200, next Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the Exposition grounds. Alexander proposes to break 100 glass balls in less time with his non-repeating breech loading rifle than Dunn can accomplish the feat with a double barreled breech loading shot gun. Dunn will shoot at eighteen yards rise, double traps, Bogardus rules. Alexander will have the balls tossed into the air by hand at any distance he may select.
